NEW JUNIOR GUARD MAKING PATRIOTS, NO MERE SOLDIERS

National Guard Officers Enthusiastic Over Military Body of Schoolboys.

EVENING WORLD IDEA.

Major Hoppin Tells How Organization Will Instill Spirit of Liberty.

"If Young America is properly developed there will be no cry of unpreparedness in the future, and I believe the Junior American Guard is the means for that development," was the statement of Major F. L. V. Hoppin, Adjutant General of the First Brigade, National Guard, and an officer of the Governor's staff, to-day, Major Hoppin is one of the Executive Committee of the Guard, which was organized following a suggestion made by The Evening World, and he is advocating a move to make the Guard a stepping stone to membership in the National Guard. "The fathers of many Americans left Europe to escape compulsory military service. The idea is not in accordance with the free spirit of American liberty. The groundwork of our military must be patriotism, but the time to make patriotism an active, thrilling determination and to prepare for the Nation's defense is in boyhood.

Boys Who Will Be Patriots as Well as Soldiers, And Officer Who Commends Evening World's Idea

MAJ. F. L. V. HOPPIN OF THE GOVERNOR'S STAFF

The age at which the boys retire from the Guard which has been organized is eighteen years, and as that is the time when they can be admitted to the National Guard, this move will, I believe, prove one of the strongest foundations and best groundworks for the future membership of the Guard. It is certain that these boys can enter the National Guard with a distinct advantage after the course of training in the Junior Guard, and I am in favor of recognition for them."

Major Hoppin said the Executive Committee of the Junior Guard was working out a method of promotion for the boys which would make efficiency the first requirement. There will be a Board of Examiners of officers of the National Guard to examine the juniors from time to time and promotions will be made on the basis of their standing.

The boys will be taught as much military science as they can grasp, and Major Hoppin feels certain this will be much more than merely the rudiments of the drill. He believes the boys can become expert in camp and field work and will furnish the Nation a better mentally equipped body of soldiery than that of any other country.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Junior Guard have been in conference for the past few days with Gen. Andrew C. Zabarskie, who is in command of the organization, and Major William H. Elliott, who was instrumental in organizing it and a particular effort is being made to gain recruits at the opening of the school year. There are now more than 6,000 boys enlisted.

The boys are being instructed in several armories in the city, Long Island and Jersey, and they made a brilliant showing at a drill at the armory of the Second Battery Field Artillery, One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Street and Franklin Avenue, the Bronx, on Monday night.

MODEL POLICEMAN QUILTS BECAUSE JOB IS TOO HARD

One Troublesome Night on "Savage" Tenth Avenue Makes Him Seek Quiet.

One of the finest of the finest gave up his shield, his club, his gun and his book or rules yesterday because he could not stand the troublesome life of a cop.

Thomas Hanlon, twenty-four, an athlete, of No. 301 East Fortieth Street, was a regular Gibsonian patrolman. He was husky but gentle, powerful of frame but mild of manner. With eighty-nine brother patrolmen he took part Friday in a gymnastic exhibition at City Hall Plaza for the benefit of Mayor Mitchell. On Saturday he was assigned to the West Forty-seventh Street Station and placed on a Tenth Avenue post, one of the toughest beats in the city. Within three hours he had quelled five street fights, settled six arguments in tenement houses, and explained the law to seventy or eighty persons.

That night he told Lieut. Clarkson he was through.

"I want quiet," he said. "Those people on Tenth and Eleventh Avenues are worse than savages. I'm going back to my plasterer's job."

Commissioner Woods accepted Patrolman Hanlon's resignation yesterday.

Only Small Sums Left to Other Relatives by Sporting Goods Maker.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 15.—The will of Albert G. Spalding, the sporting goods maker, who died last Thursday, disposing of his California estate valued at about $600,000, was filed for probate in the County Clerk's office to-day. The bulk of the estate, including household and personal property, is left to the widow, who is named as executrix, and with Spalding of Chicago, a son, gets $100,000, and similar amounts go to Albert Goodwill Spalding Jr. of London, an adopted son, and Durand Churchill of Point Loma, a step-son. Of these sums $55,000 had already been paid to Keith Spalding at the time the will was made, $65,000 to Durand Churchill and $1,000 to Albert G. Spalding Jr. The personal property, including stocks and bonds, is valued at $500,000. Sunset Club, the beautiful Point Loma

WARRANT FOR PROSECUTOR.

Citrus H. King of Fairfield, Conn., Accused of Forgery.

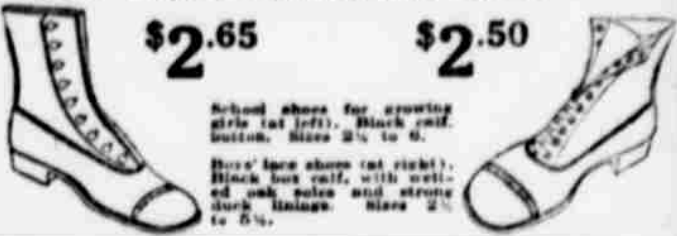

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 15.—A bench warrant was issued to-day by Judge Blawie for Citrus H. King, an attorney, who is prosecutor at Fairfield and a member of the recent General Assembly from that town, charged with forgery in two checks totaling $100,000. The warrant is for $100,000. King is said to have obtained $100,000 in wrongful ways in the last few weeks.

A Sale of Women's Low Shoes at $1

Miscellaneous Collection of Tan, Patent Leather, Cloth-Top and White Canvas Shoes

At this one low price—ONE DOLLAR—we offer all the remnants, odd lots, broken sizes and discontinued patterns of low shoes that are still here after a very busy summer. Many of them—the tans and patent leathers—have been large sellers. Others—the colored cloth-top low shoes—have not sold well at all, although in high shoes cloth-tops have been good. Their original prices were three times or more the dollar at which they are now marked. Intrinsically they are as valuable as ever; in point of fashion and season they are passing—which accounts for the very low price. The cheapest heel slipper we sell is $1.50, and these are far superior in leather and workmanship. For home wear all winter they are admirably adapted. All sizes from 2½ to 8 and AA to D in the lot, but not in every style.

Women's Cloth-Top High Shoes at Half Price—$1.75

Just half the price they have been selling for in our regular stocks until today. Wanamaker shoes, 640 pairs in the group. Patent leather buttoned with fawn cloth top; patent leather lace with fawn cloth top; tan calfskin with fawn cloth top; and bronze leather with brown cloth top. Sizes 2½ to 8; A to D widths. Subway floor, Old Building.

That Bathroom

September Housefurnishing Sale offers everything to make it comfortable.

Glass or nickel towel racks—dozens of styles and lengths. Soap racks for the tub or wall in as many more styles. Enameled cabinets in which to keep medicine, powders, skin creams, etc.—the best we ever had at the price. Crystal or opal glass shelves with nickel plated brackets—for kitchens as well as bathroom.

Match safes, tooth brush and tumbler holders, bath tub seats, robe hooks, toilet paper holders, bath sprays. None of these Wanamaker fixtures will rust.

During September—only about two weeks longer—prices are 10 to 25 per cent. less than our regular rates. Subway floor, New Building.
